DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to because in figure 4, the labels for Queue Tail 0 (115) and Queue Head 0 (117) appear to be switched from where the specification says they are supposed to be on page 5. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. There are no transitions or breaks between different aspects of the claim, making it hard to understand. "It's" on page 9, line 7 is unclear as to what it refers. The repetition of the phrase "wherein the data memory...for the purpose of removing packets" on page 9, lines 1-3, and page 10, lines 16-18, should be corrected.
3. Claims 5-7 are rejected as being dependent upon a rejected base claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fishler.

Regarding claim 1, a method for managing memory in a packet switching device is disclosed in Fishler, figure 3A, element 14, and column 5, lines 28-29 (the invention is implemented in packet router). Managing the memory as a single FIFO when inserting packets is disclosed in column 11, lines 47-52 (the global read and write pointers input data into the memory as a global queue). Managing the memory as a plurality of FIFO queues when removing packets is disclosed in column 12, line 16 (there are a plurality of DSS queues from which data may be output).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fishler in view of Gallup.

Regarding claim 2, the memory including a GFWP is disclosed in Fishler in column 11, lines 49-52. A GFDP is not specifically disclosed in Fishler, however, Fishler does disclose in column 11, lines 47-49, a global read pointer that goes through data and reads it out after the write pointer has written it into the memory. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to have a global delete pointer instead of a global read pointer. The motivation would be to merely delete the data that the read pointer encounters, dispensing with the reading step. An empty zone between the two is missing from Fishler. This is disclosed in Gallup, figure 2-59, and column 47, lines 8-12 (the global pointers are padded with empty space). It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to have an empty zone between the global pointers. The motivation would be to allow for future growth in the memory.

6. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fishler in view of Lauffenburger.

Regarding claim 3, the plurality of FIFO being described by tail pointers, head pointers, and link pointers is missing from Fishler. However, Lauffenburger discloses in column 9, line 62-column 10, lines 7, memory queues that are described by head pointers, tail pointers, and link pointers. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to use such pointers to describe the FIFO queues. The motivation would be to fully describe the queue using only a few pointers.
